Use your wave(s) of success and let the people you need ride them to build on your success and make the project bigger and more stable. Who do you include early on, who later on?